

Child care center installs solar panels

Above, John Tighe, co-owner and solar panel designer of Green Hybrid Energy Solutions, checks a solar panel installation on the roof of the For Kids Only child care center in Briarcliff Manor on Wednesday. Funded largely with a government grant, the stationary panels will be supplemented by two dual-access tracked solar panels that will tilt and rotate depending on where the sun is facing.

See more photos on LoHud.com.

Wendy Masserman, co-owner of the For Kids Only child care center in Briarcliff Manor, is installing solar panels largely funded by a government grant. PHOTOS BY RICKY FLORES/THE JOURNAL NEWS